

SESAME STREET

Who doesn't love Sesame Street? For 50+ seasons—with the help of Big Bird, Cookie Monster, and Elmo, among others—the children's PBS program has served up essential lessons and fostered adoration from basically everyone. And that includes celebrities. The series boasts an impressive list of celebrity cameos, featuring everyone from Grammy-winning musical talents to legendary actors to dignitaries to other people who also have been honored on a stamp. Making a guest appearance on Sesame Street seems like a veritable rite of passage for Hollywood stars, pop culture icons, and other famous personalities. And it's a thrill seeing A-listers hang out with the puppets you used to think of as A-listers growing up. This virtual display pairs a famous African American with each of the stamp subjects in the cachet on the 6° Cachets cover by Don Neal. The display also includes other Black personalities who have been on Sesame Street as well as a stamp. And there are a few video clips featuring some of the personalities.
